

As an Extra Class amateur licensee I fail to see any benefit to the public at large or the Amateur Service from maintaining a 5w/m Morse Code requirement. As one of many legal and useful amateur modes, Morse Code has an honored place in amateur radio tradition and current practice, but need not be treated differently than other modes.